

Freud (1856-1939)	Jung (1875-1961)
6 May 1856   Born “Sigismund Freud,” Austro-Hungarian Moravia. 1859-1860   Freud’s family settle in Vienna’s Leopoldstadt Jewish district due to financial trouble. 1865-1873   Studies at the Leopoldstadt Gymnasium. Strong student. 1873   Freud begins his medical studies at the University of Vienna. 1876   Conducts medical research in Trieste, then moves to Vienna to work in physiology with Ernst Wilhelm Brücke. 1878   Changes his first name to “Sigmund.” 1879   Fulfills his required military service. 1881   Completes medical degree, University of Vienna. 1884-1887   Research and experimentation with cocaine; publishes Über Coca (“On Coca”) 1886   Begins private practice in Vienna. 1886   Marries Martha Bernays 1887   Meets Wilhelm Fliess—will develop his first ideas on psychoanalysis; first uses hypnosis on practice 1891   Freuds move to Berggasse 19 in Vienna. 1896   First use of the term “psychoanalysis.” Freud’s father, Jacob, dies in October.	1875   Born, Kesswill, Switzerland 1878   Jung’s mother, Emilie, hospitalized for depression 1886   Begins boarding school; often bullied and isolated 1895-1900   Studies at University of Basel 1896   Jung’s father, Paul, dies

1897   Self-analysis begins; develops the term “Oedipus Complex.” 1899   Publishes The Interpretation of Dreams 1901   Publishes The Psychopathology of Everyday Life 1905   Publishes Three Essays on the Theory of Sexuality; The 'Dora' case'; and Jokes and their Relation to the Unconscious. 1906-1907   Develops friendship with Jung 1908   The First International Psychoanalytical Congress, Salzburg 1909   U.S. Clark lectures with Carl Jung in September 1910   Publishes Leonardo da Vinci and A Memory of His Childhood 1913   Publishes Totem and Taboo 1914   Jung breaks with Freud; Freud publishes the critical History of the Psychoanalytical Movement 1916   Publishes Introduction to Psychoanalysis 1920   Freud’s daughter Sophie (b. 1893) dies. Publishes Beyond the Pleasure Principle 1922-23   Diagnosed with gum cancer; surgery removes part of his jaw and gums.	1900   Appointed assistant, Burgholzli Psychiatric Hospital 1902   Doctoral dissertation On the Psychology and Pathology of So-Called Occult Phenomena, University of Zurich 1903   Marries Emma Rauschenberg. 1905   Begins lectures in psychiatry, University of Zurich. 1906-1907   Develops friendship with Freud 1909   Resigns from Burgholzli Hospital and tours U.S. with Freud; begins private practice in Kuessnacht. 1910   Publishes Symbols of Transformation. Elected President of International Psychoanalytic Association. 1911   First meets Toni Wolff, life-long mistress 1912   Publishes Psychology of the Unconscious 1916   Publishes under pseudonym Seven Sermons of the Dead 1919   First uses term “archetype.” 1921   Publishes Psychological Types 1922   Death of his mother; begins his stone tower at Bollingen 1923   Visits Pueblo Indians in U.S.
----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

1923   Publishes The Ego and the Id 1927   Publishes The Future of an Illusion 1930   Freud's mother Amalia dies at the age of 95. Publishes Civilization and its Discontents 1932   Publishes Why War?, an exchange of letters with Albert Einstein 1933   In Berlin, Freud's books are publicly burned by the Nazis. 1936   Celebrates his 80th birthday in Vienna; made a fellow of the Royal Society in Britain. 1938   Freud and his family flee the Nazis, moving to 20 Maresfield Gardens in the Hampstead, London. 23 September 1939   Dies in London from gum cancer 1939   Moses and Monotheism published posthumously	1925   Visits Elgonyi, Mount Elgon in East Africa 1929   Commentary on Taoist text The Secret of the Golden Flower. 1933   Publishes Modern Man in Search of a Soul 1936   Publishes Wotton, a criticism of the Nazis 1937   Travels in India 1938   Delivers The Terry Lectures, Yale and publishes Psychology and Religion 1944   Publishes Psychology and Alchemy; Becomes Professor of Medical Psychology, University of Basel; has a near-fatal heart attack 1948   Founds C.G. Jung Institute, Zurich 1951   Publishes Aion: Researches into the Phenomenology of the Self 1952   Publishes Synchronicity and Answer to Job 1955   His wife dies 1957   Publishes The Undiscovered Self 1961   Dies at home 1962   Memories, Dreams, Recollections, published posthumously , recorded and edited by Aniela Jaffe
---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

